

Nirvana - Smells Like Teen Spirit

```
Until the end
               tom:
                                                              [Riff 2]
               Fm
        [Riff 1]
                                                              Hello, hello, hello, how low
                                                              Hello, hello, hello, how low
                                                              Hello, hello, hello, how low
Hello, hello, hello
[Riff 2]
                                                              [Segundo Refrão]
[Passagem]
                                                              With the lights out
                                                              Bb
                                                                      Ab
Intro: F Bb Ab Db F Bb Ab Db
                                                              It's less dangerous
                                                               Db F
                                                              Here we are now
[Primeira Parte]
                                                              Bb Ab
                                                              Entertain us
[Riff 1]
                                                              Db
                                                              I feel stupid
Load up on guns
                                                              Bb Ab
Bring your friends
                                                              And contagious
It's fun to lose
                                                               Db F
And to pretend
                                                              Here we are now
She's over-bored
                                                              Bb Ab
And self-assured
                                                              Entertain us
Oh, no, I know
                                                              Db F
A dirty word
                                                              A mulatto
                                                              Bb Ab
                                                              An albino
[Riff 2]
                                                              Db
                                                                  F
Hello, hello, hello, how low
                                                              A mosquito
Hello, hello, hello, how low
                                                               Bb Ab
Hello, hello, hello, how low
                                                              My libido
Hello, hello, hello
                                                               Db
                                                              Yeah
[Primeiro Refrão]
                                                              [Passagem F E F Gb
                                                                         F E F Bb Ab
With the lights out
                                                              [Solo] F Bb Ab Db
    Ab
It's less dangerous
Db F
Here we are now
Bb Ab
Entertain us
Db
I feel stupid
                                                              [Terceira Parte]
Bb Ab
And contagious
                                                              And I forget
Db F
Here we are now
                                                              Just why I taste
Bb Ab
                                                              Oh yeah, I guess
Entertain us
                                                              It makes me smile
                                                              I found it hard
Db F
A mulatto
                                                              It's hard to find
Bb Ab
                                                              Well, whatever
An albino
                                                              Nevermind
Db F
A mosquito
                                                              [Riff 2]
Bb Ab
My libido
                                                              Hello, hello, hello, how low
Db
                                                              Hello, hello, hello, how low
                                                              Hello, hello, hello, how low
Yeah, yey
                                                              Hello, hello, hello
[Passagem F E F Gb F E F Bb Ab
                                                              With the lights out
[Segunda Parte]
                                                              Bb
                                                                      Ab
                                                              It's less dangerous
[Riff 1]
                                                               Db F
                                                              Here we are now
I'm worse
                                                              Bb Ab
At what I do best
                                                              Entertain us
And for this gift
                                                              Db F
                                                              I feel stupid
I feel blessed
Our little group
                                                              Bb Ab
Has always been
                                                              And contagious
And always will
                                                               Db
```

Oferecimento Lojalele.com.br

Here we are now
Bb Ab
Entertain us
Db F
A mulatto
Bb Ab
An albino
Db F
A mosquito
Bb Ab

My libido
[Final] (x4)

Db F
A denial
Bb Ab
A denial

Db F A denial

Acordes

