He doesn't see her anymore
 And yet she stands in front of him
 No communication
 Only empty words are spoken
 With a memory she lingers
 On and on and on
 For a moment she'll just
 Close her eyes and drift away

He doesn't see her anymore
 Somehow forgotten what it is
 He promised to be here for
 But there's something there
 There's something left
 That keeps her by his side
 Close her eyes...
 She remembers the passion

Doesn't feel the breath, a kiss
 And yet she lies beside him
 No imagination
 Keeps two steps back - two steps back
 With a memory she lingers

On and on and on
 For a moment she'll just
 Close her eyes and remember when

He doesn't see her anymore
 Somehow forgotten what it is
 He promised to be here for
 But there's something left
 There's something there
 That keeps her by his side
 Close her eyes...
 She remembers

She remembers him
 She remembers why she came here
 From far away to find her way through fairytales...

He doesn't see her anymore
 Somehow forgotten what it is
 He promised to be there for
 But there's something there
 That keeps her by his side
 Something there
 There's something stronger
 That keeps her hanging on

Close her eyes
 And she remember why it is
 She promised to be here
 Close her eyes...
