

Noah and The Whale - Jocasta

Tom: A
Intro: A (CLAP CLAP CLAP!)

Verse 1:

A E
When the baby's born
Oh, let's turn it to the snow
Gbm E
So that ice will surely grow
Gbm E
Over weak and brittle bones
A E
Oh, let's leave it to the wolves
A E
So their teeth turn it to food
Gbm E
Oh, its flesh keeps them alive
Gbm E
Oh, its death helps them survive
Gbm A E Gbm E
Oh, the world can be kind in its own way

(repeat the chord progression for verse 1 instrumentally before going into verse 2)

Verse 2:

A E
Oh well your future's a machine
A E
With the mechanics of a dream
Gbm E
It is your mind that spins the wheel
Gbm E
And your heart that makes you feel
A E
All the guilt for all your sins
A E
Oh and as that wheel spins
Gbm E
Oh well it plays as they believed
Gbm E

And for your husband you have grieved
Gbm A E Gbm E
Oh the world still deceives you as it turns
(no instrumental break, cut straight to the next part)
D (let ring) A (triplets)
Well in my lucid moments I could see
Gbm (let ring) E (triplets)
Oh that the heart might be the weakest part of me
D (let ring) A (triplets)
Oh and the moon controls the movements of the tide
Gbm (let ring) E (triplets)
Oh but it has no weight on the movements of my mind

NC
But if you turn your hands into flames

All their light will burn the same

Whether you just pass it through or if it's what you want to do

(NC) D A

And your sense of culpability
D A
Is from the guides that you perceive

Gbm
Will show you grace

E
Oh when you turn to a ghost

D A
Oh but now the love you found

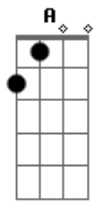

D A
Is raising you from muddy ground

D A
And oh the death will let you down

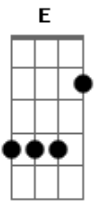

Gbm
'Cause your curse

E
Will go on the same
