

Noah Young - Kerry Park

tom:
 Should we stay right here together
 Underneath this stormy weather
 I just want to get to know you better
 The way you hide the color of your cheeks
 Reminds me of the autumn leaves
 Just like the way they turn red in November's breeze
 And should I stay right here forever
 Darling I won't mind, got the world in sight
 And I can't keep myself together whenever
 You smile, so don't be shy
 Let your hair down, 'cause we're here now
 At six o'clock we walk the busy streets
 Now the city sleeps, and we
 Are wide awake 'cause we're laughing
 Addicted to caffeine
 And asking the passerby's
 To take our photograph and save the view
 This navy blue skyline
 Feels like déjà vu
 The same hue as your eyes
 So find the words I keep forgetting

Please read my thoughts
 When my mouth cannot Underneath the stars we're resting, connecting Each dot, so I thank God
 You're my prayer now, and we're here now
 We don't know if tomorrow's safe
 But we can stay right here in the pouring rain
 It's never dark out
 It's never dark
 You might lose sleep and misplace your heart
 But you can still find me down in Kerry Park
 Forever ours now
 Forever ours
 So if your hands are frozen let me
 Hold them when they're shaking like
 You want me to break the ice
 The sun went down but you're the best thing
 That's setting tonight. I'll close my eyes
 No matter where I'll
 See you with your hair down
 Say a little prayer now
 And I'm there now
