

Omnia - The Raven

Tom: F

(com acordes na forma de C)

Capostrate na 5ª casa

Once upon a midnight dreary, while I pondered, weak and weary
Over many a quaint and curious volume of forgotten lore
While I nodded, nearly napping, suddenly there came a tapping
As of some one gently rapping, tapping at my chamber door
"Tis some visitor," I muttered, "tapping at my chamber door Only this, and nothing more"

Ah, distinctly I remember it was in the bleak December
And each separate dying ember wrought its ghost upon the floor Eagerly I wished the morrow; - vainly I had sought to borrow
From my books surcease of sorrow - sorrow for the lost Lenore
For the rare and radiant maiden whom the angels name Lenore Nameless here for evermore

(Am)

And the silken sad uncertain rustling of each purple curtain

Thrilled me - filled me with fantastic terrors never felt before

Presently, to still the beating of my heart, I stood repeating

"Tis some visitor entreating entrance at my chamber door

Some late visitor entreating entrance at my chamber door

Merely this, and nothing more"

(G F G Am C F G)

Out into that darkness peering, long I stood there wondering, fearing

Doubting, dreaming dreams no mortals ever dared to dream

But the silence was unbroken, and the stillness gave no token

And the only word there spoken was the whispered word,
"Lenore?"

This I whispered, and an echo murmured back the word,
"Lenore!"

Merely this, and nothing more

(Am)

Back into the chamber turning, all my soul within me burning

Soon again I heard a tapping somewhat louder than before

"Surely," said I, "surely that is someone at my window lattice

Let me see, then, what thereat is, and this mystery explore

Let my heart be still a moment and this mystery explore

'Tis the wind and nothing more"

(Am)

Open wide I flung the shutter, when, with many a flirt and flutter

In there stepped a stately raven of the saintly days of yore

Not the least obeisance made he; not a minute stopped or stayed he

But, with mien of lord or lady, perched above my chamber door

Perched upon a bust of Arice just above my chamber door

Perched, and sat, and nothing more

(G F G Am C F G)

Soon that ebony bird beguiling my sad fancy into smiling

By the grave and stern decorum of the countenance it wore

"Though thy crest be shorn and shaven, thou," I said, "art sure no craven

Ghastly grim and ancient raven wandering on the Nightly shore

Tell me what thy lordly name is on the Night's Plutonian shore"

Quoth the Raven, "Nevermore"

(Am)

Now the raven, sitting lonely on the placid bust, spoke only

That one word, as if his soul in that one word he did outpour

Nothing further then he uttered- not a feather then he fluttered

Till I scarcely more than muttered, "other friends have flown

On the morrow he will leave me, as my hopes have flown before"

Quoth the raven, "Nevermore"

(Am)

Then, methought, the air grew denser, perfumed by an unseen censer

Swung by seraphim whose foot-falls tinkled on the tufted floor

Once more on the velvet sinking, I betook myself to linking

Fancy unto fancy, thinking what this ominous bird of yore

What this grim, ungainly, ghastly, gaunt and ominous bird of yore

Meant in croaking "Nevermore"

(G F G Am C F G)

"Prophet!" said I, "thing of evil! - prophet still, if bird or devil!

Whether Tempter sent, or whether tempest tossed thee here ashore

Desolate yet all undaunted, on this desert land enchanted

On this home by horror haunted- tell me truly, I implore

Is there - is there balm in Gilead? - tell me - tell me, I implore"

Quoth the Raven, "Nevermore"

"Prophet!" said I, "thing of evil - prophet still, if bird or
devil

By that Heaven stretched above us - by that God we both adore

Tell this soul with sorrow laden if, within the distant Aidenn Quoth the Raven, "Nevermore"

It shall ^Fclasp a ^Gsainted maiden whom the ^Fangels name Lenore (Am)

Clasp a ^{Em}rare and ^Fradiant maiden whom the ^Gangels name Lenore"
Quoth the Raven, "Nevermore"

"Be that ^{Am}word our ^Gsign in parting, bird or fiend," I shrieked, upstarting

"Get thee ^Fback into the ^Gtempest and the Night's Plutonian
shore

Leave no ^{Am}black plume as a ^Ctoken of that lie thy soul hath spoken

Leave my ^Floneliness unbroken!- quit the ^Gbust above my door

Take thy ^{Em}beak from out my heart, and take thy ^Fform from off my door"

Now the ^{Am}Raven, never flitting, still is ^Gsitting, still is sitting

On the ^Fpallid bust of Arice just above ^Gmy chamber door

And his ^{Am}eyes have all the ^Cseeming of a demon's that is dreaming

And the ^Flamplight o'er him ^Gstreaming throws his shadow on the floor

And my ^{Em}soul from out that shadow that ^Flies floating on the floor

Shall be ^Glifted - nevermore
