

Paramore - One Of Those Crazy Girls

```
As the chemicals swim,
                                                                I know I'll never love again,
                                    Afinação: Eb Ab Db Gb Bb
                                                                I swear I'll never love again!
 Now when you say you wanna slow down,
                                                                Baby, are we over now?
Does it mean you wanna slow dance?
Maybe you just want a little extra time
                                                               Maybe I can change your mind?
To focus on our romance.
                                                                Soon as you walk out my door,
                                                                                 Em
What do you mean I got it backwards?
                                                                I'm gonna call a hundred times...
You know we're gonna be forever
                                                                ( G Em Am C G D Bm C )
Why are you tellin' me goodbye?
                                                                I'm not one of those crazy girls,
Aren't you gonna stay the night?
                                                                I'm not one of those crazy girls,
              G
                                                                                   Em
Are we really over now?
                                                                I'm not one of those crazy girls,
                                                                I'm not one of those crazy girls...
Maybe I can change your mind?
                                                                            G
                                                                Baby, are we over now?
Soon as you walk out my door,
                                                                           Em
I'm gonna call a hundred times...
                                                                Maybe I can change your mind?
                                                                As soon as you walk out my door,
Now I walk under a pink sky
                                                                                Fm
                                                                I'm gonna call a hundred times!
 Love has flown along and passed me by
                                                                Baby, are we over now?
 I pour my heart out to your voice mail,
                                                                            Fm
Let you know I caught a bus to your side of town
                                                                Maybe I can change your mind?
And now I'm standing at your doorstep
                                                                As soon as you walk out my door,
                                                                                Em
With Los Angeles behind me.
                                                                I'm gonna call a hundred times!
If you don't answer I'll just use the key
                                                                       Uh uh uh uhh...
That I copied 'cause I really need to see you.
                                                                Now I'm one of those crazy girls,
 If you're not here when I break in,
                                                                Now I'm one of those crazy girls,
Gonna go to your closet,
                                                                Now I'm one of those crazy girls,
Just so I can smell your skin.
                                                                Now I'm one of those crazy girls...
