

Paramore - Part II

Tom: F
Intro: Bb C Bb Gm Db F

Bb
What a shame,
What a shame we all remain such fragile broken things,
a beauty, half the trade, butterflies with poached wings, still there are darkened places, deep in my heart.

Where once was blazing light now, there's a tiny spark.
oh glory,
come and find me,
oh glory.
come and find me

CHORUS

dancing all alone
to the sound of the enemy's song.
i'll be lost until you find me, fighting on my own in a war that's already been won i'll be lost until you come and find me here, oh glory.

what a mess,
what a mystery we've made of love and other simple things learning to forgive, even when it was our mistake i question every human who will look in my eyes scars left on my heart form patterns in my mind
oh glory
You will find me

CHORUS

dancing all alone
to the sound of the enemy's song.
i'll be lost until you find me,
fighting on my own in a war that's already been won i'll be lost until you come and find me here, oh glory.

Instrumental:

Dm
Drums starts: Dm C Bb Gm x6

Like the moon we borrow our light
I am nothing but a shadow in the night
If you let me, I will catch fire
To let your glory and mercy shine
