I can't call you a stranger
But I can't call you
I know you think that I erased you
You may hate me but I can't hate you
And I won't replace you

Tell me how to feel about you now
C F
Oh, let me know
F F
Do I suffocate or let go?

Think I'm tired of getting over it
Just starting something new again
I'm getting sick of the beginnings
And always coming to your defences
I guess it's good to get it off my chest
I guess I can't believe I haven't yet
You know I got my own convictions
And they're stronger than any addiction
But no one's winning

You keep me up with your silence
Take me down with your quiet
Of all the weapons you fight with
Your silence is the most violent

You don't have to tell me
If you ever think of me
I know you say you're busy
In the wild fog of your memory
You don't have to tell me
I can still believe
