Intro: Am C G C

F C F

Am C G C
Pour the petrol can, around this caravan.

F C F
And watch the flames take all you own.

Am C G C
There's a girl who understands, by the back of her two hands.

F C F
She's all you need to know.

G C G F
'Cause you search for years but you lose everything you find.

G C G F
There's braille for the deaf and signposts for the blind.

G C G F
There's heaven for the cruel but the devil waits for the kind. {Whistling}

{Whistling}

Am C G
And you follow the blackbird home, through the early winter snow.

F C F
Your footprints track you through the grass.

Am C G
And you ache just to smell her clothes, and her cooking down on the stove.

F C F
You see her face in everyone you pass.

G C G F
'Cause you search for years but you lose everything you find.

G C G F
There's braille for the deaf and signposts for the blind.

G C G F
There's heaven for the cruel but the devil waits for the kind.

G C G F
And you walk down to her window.

G C G F
And press your face against the glass.

G C G F
Only to find that she is happy in his arms.

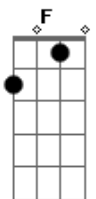

{Whistling}

G C G F
'Cause you search for years but you lose everything you find.

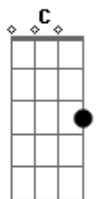

G C G F
There's braille for the deaf and signposts for the blind.

G C G F
There's heaven for the cruel but the devil waits for the kind.
