Dbm A E
E I know a man with nothing in his hands, nothing but a rolling stone
 He told me about when his house burnt down, he lost everything he owned
 He lay asleep for six whole weeks, they were gonna ask his mother to choose Dbm A
 When he woke up with nothing he said I'll tell you somethin, E E
 when you've nothing, you've got nothing to lose

 I know a woman with kids around her ankles and a baby on her lap

 she said one day her husband went to get a paper and the mother fucker never came back mortgage to pay and four kids to raise, keeping the wolf from the door she said the wolf's just a puppy and the door's double locked, so why you gotta worry me for

 Now he left a hole in my heart, a hole in a promise, a hole on the side of my bed
A E B E
 oh now that he's gone well life carries and I miss him like a hole in the head!
A E B
 well sometimes you can't change and you can't choose and sometimes it seems you gain less than you lose
