Intro: G G-D D
G G-D D

Verse 1:
She stops and checks her reflection
In a car parked on the corner

She said "It's hell on me,
This working down at the diner."

Verse 2:
Some people say, man, she was hot
Back when she was younger
Yeah, well she was a dancer
When she lived in L.A.

Chorus 1:
She was someone's baby doll
A beauty queen to someone long ago,
From the midnight show, and if you
Close your eyes, you hear the music playing
You can see her dancing underneath the spotlight, and
When she sleeps, she dreams she's back in Hollywood
Back when all the world was young,
And she was someone's baby doll

Repeat Intro

Verse 3:
She stops and checks her reflection
In the bathroom on her lunch break
She says I still look good for Someone half of my real age

Verse 4:
Some people say "Man, I bet she Still makes love like an earthquake."
Yeah, but man, she ain't easy
She ain't lettin' you in, my friend, my friend

Chorus 2:
Put your best dress and your high heels on
And dream you're gone, and when you
Close your eyes, you hear the music playing
You can see her dancing underneath the spotlight, and
When she sleeps, she dreams she's back in Hollywood
Back when all the world was young,
And she was someone's baby doll
Instrumental:

Verse 5:
She stops and calls an old friend
From the payphone at the subway
She says "I feel like I'm just sitting here
Wasting my days away."

Chorus 3:
And walk away just like you did before
When you wanted more, and when you
Close your eyes, you hear the music playing
You can see her dancing underneath the spotlight, and
When she sleeps, she dreams she's back in Hollywood
When she was a younger girl
A pretty heart in a tainted world
Not sure who you wanna be
Your Daddy's little drama queen
I hope that when you find yourself,
You're more than just a baby doll
