

Peach PRC - God Is a Freak

```
Kids that've sinned get sick
               Eb (forma dos acordes no tom de C )
Capostraste na 3º casa
                                                               Enjoy your red carpet
C G Dm F Freak, freak
                                                               Listen, I'm just confused with
                                                               The work that he's doing
I heard my dad pray over a football game
                                                               And I mean this respectfully
Guess God had time that day
                                                               God is a bit of a freak
Is there a shortlist order of importance
                                                               Why's he watching me getting
Or is it just luck based?
                                                               Railed on the couch
Listen, I'm just confused with
                                                               Staying pure for a wedding?
   G
The work that he's doing
                                                               He's got fucked up priorities
And I mean this respectfully
                                                               God is a bit of a freak
                                                               Like what's the fixation
God is a bit of a freak
                                                               On hating the way he creates?
Why's he watching me getting
                                                               So why would I spend my eternity
Railed on the couch
                                                               With God when he's a freak?
Staying pure for a wedding?
                                                               Why's he watching me getting
                                                               Railed on the couch
He's got fucked up priorities
                                                               Staying pure for a wedding?
God is a bit of a freak
                                                               He's got fucked up priorities
Like what's the fixation
                                                               God is a bit of a freak
On hating the way he creates?
                                                               Like what's the fixation
                                                               On hating the way he creates?
So why would I spend my eternity
With God when he's a freak?
                                                                So why would I spend my eternity
Why's he watching me getting
                                                               With God when he's a freak?
Railed on the couch
                                                               And the church choir's in session
Staying pure for a wedding?
                                                               Hello, God, here's my confession
                                                               Sorry, I'm not quite anointed
He's got fucked up priorities
                                                               Weird you're acting like my boyfriend
God is a bit of a freak
                                                                С
Like what's the fixation
                                                                Freak
On hating the way he creates?
                                                               Why's he watching me getting
                                                               Railed on the couch
So why would I spend my eternity
                                                               Staying pure for a wedding?
With God when he's a freak?
                                                               He's got fucked up priorities
Under the covers
                                                               God is a bit of a freak
Watching some cheerleaders
                                                               Like what's the fixation
I'm his biggest concern
                                                               On hating the way he creates?
                                                               So why would I spend my eternity
Don't worry about it
```

Oferecimento Lojalele.com.br

Acordes

