

Pearl Jam - React, Respond

```
Instead of fighting ourselves
                          tom:
                                                                       D
                                                                       D
[Primeira Parte]
                                                                       D
             D
                                                              F
                                                                      D
I see you worried and hurried
                                                          D E D E
         D E
As if addressing the jury
                                                          D F D F
  F D F
Oh, you are innocent, you're proving innocent
            D
You are hurting and it's so magnificent
                                                          [Pré-Refrão]
           D
   Е
                 E
                                                          E E7 E E7
Don't let the sky hook beat you to submission
   Е
            D
                                                          Ooh-ooh-ooh
Maybe it's the price of price of our admission
                                                          E E E D Dm
           D E
                                                          Ooh-ooh-ooh-ooh
Ain't no fucking roses to our condition
                                                          [Refrão]
            D
Turn this anger into nuclear fission, yeah, baby, baby
[Tab - Pré-Refrão]
                                                          Don't react, respond
Parte 1 de 3
                                                          Don't react, respond
Parte 2 de 3
                                                          Don't react
                                                                           D
Parte 3 de 3
                                                                   D
                                                                           Α
                                                          The darkness, it recedes
                                                                           D
G | -11-11-11-10-10-10|
D | -12-12-12-12-12-12|
[Refrão]
                                                          Don't react, respond
Don't react, respond
                                                          Don't react, respond
                                                          Bh
Don't react, respond
When what you get is what you don't want
                                                          Don't react, respond
                                                          Bb
Don't react, respond
                                                          Don't react, respond
                                                          Bb
                                                          Don't react, respond
[Segunda Parte]
   Е
Are we at war with each other?
D F
            D
Are you at war with yourself?
                                                          Don't react, respond
            D E
We could be fighting together
                                                          [Final] D E D E
```

Start the rebuttal, all part of the game Yes, what makes us different and what makes us the same Ah, the incandescence that is your essence The unexpected embrace, embrace the unexpected There's no book on this life, there's no use as directed The best part I know was when we were connected When what you get is what you don't want As the light gets brighter as it grows It's better to give, give than to deceive Questions dissolve the more you believe, ah When you get what you don't want When you get what you don't want

D

Acordes

