Peter Hammill - Forsaken Gardens

Tom: C	F Dm
F Dm	Now I see the garden that I've grown is just the same As those outside
Where are all the joys of yesterday?	F Eb
F Dm	The fences, [that] erected to protect, simply divide
Where, now, is the happiness and laughter that we shared?	Gm
Am7 G	There's ruination everywhere, the weather has
Gone, like our childhood dreams, aspirations and beliefs	Eb
Am F	Played havoc with the grass
Time is a thief, and he ravages our gardens	Gm F Deac anyone believe big [their] garden's really gaing to last?
Stripping saplings, felling trees	Does anyone believe his [their] garden's really going to last?
F Dm	[And] In the time allotted us, can any man keep miserly his
Trampling on our flowers, sucking sap and drying seeds	own?
Am G	Am F Em Am
In the midnight candle-light of experience	Is there any pleasure in a solitary growth?
Am D C B
All colour fades, green fingers grey	(FGAmGAmEmAm)
Time, alone, shall murder all the flowers	(Am G Am G F) (Em Bm Em C D Em)
G	F (Bm Gbm Bm Ab Bb C Db Fm)
Still, there's time to share our plots and all that we call
'ours'	F Dm
Am F	Come and see my garden if you will
How much worse, then, if we all deny each others' needs	F Dm
Bb F Dm C	I'd like someone to see it all before each root is killed Am7 G
And keep our garden's privately? Am Em	Surely now its time to open up each life to all
Its getting colder, wind and rain leave gashes	Am7 D C B
Am F G Am G Am	Tear down the walls, if its not too late
Looking back, I only see the friends I've lost	G Em
Am Em	There is so much sorrow in the world
Fires smoulder, raking through the ashes	G F
Am My hands are dirty, my mind is numb	There is so much emptiness and heartbreak and pain
F G Am G F	Somewhere on the road we have all taken a wrong turn
I count the cost of 'I'	Bb F Dm C F C Bb
Em Bm	How can we build the right path again?
"I need to get on, I've got to tend my garden	Am7 Gm
Em C D Em Bm	Through the grief, through the pain
Got to shut you out, no time to crave your pardon no_ ow"	Am7 Our flowers need each others' rain
