

PUP - Sleep In The Heat

```
Last week when I went back to my apartment
                            tom:
                Eb (forma dos acordes no tom de E )
                                                                                    Dbm
                           Afinação: Eb Ab Db Gb Bb Eb
                                                                You were lookin' so stoned
Intro: E A B Dbm
       A Dbm B
                                                               The day after Christmas you acted so different
       E A B Dbm
A Dbm B
                                                               You just wanted to be on your own
                                                               So I bought you medicine
[Primeira Parte]
                                                               Went to the vet and
 I was feeling a little bizarre
                                                               Cashed all of my savings and loans
                  Dbm
 The day that I buried my family car
                                                                But it was too late
In the scrapmetal wrecking yard
                                                               You were letting go
And I've said so many goodbyes
                                                               ( E A B )
( Dbm B )
In the 25 years that I've been alive
                                                               (Dbm B É)
               Α
And I don't know why this one was so hard
                                                               [Ponte]
[Refrão]
                        Ε
                                                               And nothing I say
And everytime when I go back to my apartment
                                                               Will make it ok
All I wanna do is get stoned
                                                               You just sleep in the heat and repeat
And I'm sick and tired of blacking out on my carpet
                                                               You're wasting away
And waking up all on my own
So I brought you home
                                                               And nothing I do is gonna save you
    A B Dbm )
                                                               I'm trying my best but you can't even
(A Dbm B E)
(EABDbm)
                                                               Look at me or talk to me
(A Dbm B E)
                                                               Or tell me what's happening to you
[Segunda Parte]
                                                               [Refrão Final]
You started falling apart
                                                               Yesterday I went back to my apartment
6 months after you moved in
                                                               To see how you've been holding up
And I shoulda known from the start
                                                               You hadn't been eating, I thought you were sleeping but
       В
That things would be different
                                                                 You're not waking up
It's not something that I can fix
                                                                                             Ε
                                                               I want you to know thay I'd spend every bit of my Dbm
If I could do anything you know I would Dbm
                                                               Pitiful savings and loans
If this fucking vacation would come to an end
                                                                Just to see you again
Maybe then you'd be normal again
                                                               But I know I won't [Refrão]
```

Acordes

