

Queens Of The Stone Age - I Appear Missing

```
Intro: 2x: Dbm
               E Eb
                                                           The rabbit hole never to be found
                                                                                 Fb
Verso 1:
                                                               It?s only falling in love because you hit the ground
                                                           Calling all comas prisoner on the loose. Description:
                В
    The spitting image of me
                                                           Verso 3:
except for the heart-shaped hole where the hope runs out
                                                           Dancing on wire with both ends on fire
                                                              Cut me loose
Refrão:
Shock me awake, tear me apart
                                                           Nowhere to run, no more room to pretend
           Eb
                                                                             E
                                                           Wandering along the road in the summer night
Pinned like a note inside a hospital gown
           Gbm
A person asleep, further down
                                                                      Е
        Eb
                                                           A Gbm
The rabbit hole never to be found
                                                           I go missing, no longer exist
                                                                  Gbm E
( Dbm B Eb B ) (2x)
                                                           One day, I hope, I?m someone you?d miss
Verso 2:
                                                                    Gbm
                                                           Shock me awake, tear me apart
  Where are you hiding my love?
                                                                     Eb
  Cast off like a stone. Feelings,
                                                           Pinned like a note inside a hospital gown
      В
                                                           A Gbm Dbm
  raw and exposed when I?m out of control.
                                                              Deeper asleep, further down
              В
                                                                     Fb
  Pieces were stolen from me.
                                                           The rabbit hole never to be found
Pieces were E
Or dare I say, given away.
                                                           Solo 4x: A Gbm E Dbm B
              В
 Watching the water give in Final:
                                                                                Dbm
                                                                                                               Gbm
as I go down the drain, I appear missing now.
                                                             With my toes on the edge, it?s such a lovely view
                                                                         Dbm B A
                                                             I never loved anything until I loved you
           Е
                                                             Dbm B A Gbm
I?m over the edge, what can I do?
Dbm B A Gb
                     Dbm
I go missing, no longer exist
     Gbm E
One day, I hope, I?m someone you?d miss
                                                             I haven?t a thing unless I have you
                                                                               Dbm
                                                                                                               Ghm
                                                             With my toes on the edge, it?s such a lovely view

Dbm B A Gbm

I never loved anything until I loved you
        Gbm
Shock me awake, tear me apart
        Eb
Pinned like a note inside a hospital gown
                                                                        Dbm B A Gbm
                                                             I?m over the edge, what can I do?
       Gbm
 Deeper asleep, further down
                                                             I?m falling through Acordes
                Dbn
```