

Quinn XCII - Straightjacket

Tom: Eb

She's a ^{Eb} psycho from a ^{Bb} Midwest suburb
^{Ab} No straightjacket could hold her
^{Eb} Wild eyes, they would lure me in her trap
^{Ab} I go mad just to hold her

Until I ^{Eb} noticed that something was strange

Out of my ^{Bb} range, there was no way back
^{Ab} Something went off in my brain

She was ^{Ab} insane, here she goes again

A ^{Eb} psycho from a ^{Bb} Midwest suburb

^{Ab} I woke up and I told her

^{Eb} You won't know me when the feeling's all gone

^{Gm} And I tell everyone

And the look on your face will slowly come undone

^{Gm} 'Cause it was all a front

And quietly, I say it to your face

That you will need to find another place to stay

And no you won't know me when the feeling's all gone

^{Gm} And I tell everyone, ay

She's a ^{Eb} loose cannon with a ^{Bb} temper, so absurd

^{Ab} Hiding from the police, yeah

^{Eb} Took pills with the name I'd never heard

^{Ab} But they were for sleep, she fooled me

That's when I ^{Eb} noticed that something was strange

Out of my ^{Bb} range, there was no way back

^{Ab} Something went off in my brain

She was ^{Ab} insane, here she goes again

A ^{Eb} psycho from a ^{Bb} Midwest suburb

That you will need to find another place to stay

And now you won't know me when the feeling's all gone
