

Rancid - Daly City Train

Tom: F

Date: Fri, 09 Jan 1998 07:09:52 -0500 (EST)

From:

Album: . . . And Out Come the Wolves

Written by Tim Armstrong, Matt Freeman, and Lars Frederiksen

Transcribed by Luke Knox

wait till their new CD is released this spring! Anyway, here it is:

Verse: (repeated)

Chorus: One guitar plays the chords, barred, and the lead guitar plays $% \left(1\right) =\left(1\right) +\left(1\right) +\left($ the riff. I believe the timing's right:

C F G

Solo: (2x)

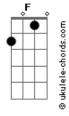

Bridge:

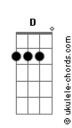

Č F G C F G

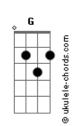

C F G F F G F

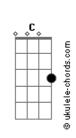

Order: Verse Chorus Verse Chorus Solo Bridge

Acordes

Chorus

Lyrics:

[Verse]:

He was an artist and a writer and a poet and a friend.

In a man's life he will take a fall, but how low he goes, that just depends. He's shooting dope in the men's room at the station, daly $\operatorname{city} % \left(\operatorname{com}\left(\operatorname{$ train. Have you ever seen an angel?

Well I know $\dot{\mathbf{I}}$ have. They'll stay here for a while then they fly away.

[Chorus]:

Jackyl had a beer in his hand last time I seen him. When he rolled the dice you know he never thought twice, never thought twice about being here.

[Verse]:

Some grow up, and some grow old. But what about the kid who never learned the rules. Spent all these years on earth, when you look back, it's just a flicker of time. He was one of the ones that was already saved through $% \left(1\right) =\left(1\right) +\left(1\right) +\left$

all. Through all this evil and wreckage, he maintained a sense of himself.

[Chorus]

[Solo]

[Bridge]:

Some $\bar{\text{men}}$ are in prison even though they walk the streets at night. Other men who got the lockdown are free as a bird in flight. [Chorus] $% \begin{center} \end{center} \begin{center} \end{center}$

That's it! Let me know if you have any changes, comments, etc., or $% \left(1\right) =\left(1\right) \left(1\right)$

Luke