   Intro (Em7 Em D7 D7 Em7 A7 D7 D7 )
                                                                   (Em7 A7 D7 D7 )
                                                                   She's a full time believer
(Em7 Em D7 D7 )
She's the girl you see
                                                                   She wakes up early everyday
Walking down the street
Holding her head high
                                                                   Yeah 'cause she's a
                                                                   Full time believer
Unstoppable
                                                                   And she can care less what you say
She's confident
                                                                   Yeah 'cause she's a
Got a laser eye
                                                                   Full time believer
Swinging to her own beat
And an a smile
                                                                   Everyday...
She's a winner
000
                                                                   Passagem (Dm C F Bb Dm C D Dm C F Bb Dm G7 C Db D D7 )
She is where it's at
She's as loud as an owl
                                                                   (Em7 A7 D7 D7 )
                                                                   She lays in bed
She can stop the whole crowd
She is heaven lent
                                                                   With a real hard book
                                                                   'Bout a chinese girl
'Cause I know they want her back
                                                                   And a chance she took
                                                                   She defines all lines
Maybe wrote the law
(Em7 A7 D7 D7 )
She's a full time believer
                                                                   Oh, her daddy would be proud
She wakes up early everyday
                                                                   If he was still around
Yeah 'cause she's a
                                                                   She turns the light off
Full time believer
                                                                       D7
                                                                   And dreams of kings and gold
And she can care less what you say
Yeah 'cause she's a
Full time believer
                                                                   (Em7 A7 D7 D7 )
                                                                   Can't touch her soul
D7
                                                                   Or keep her under control
She's a leader to be
Don't you get in her way
(Em7 Em D7 D7 )
                                                                   Something you're gonna see
She combs her hair
                                                                   She made me a,
With her diamond eyes
                                                                   A full time believer
Staring at herself
                                                                   Now I get up early everyday
'Cause she looks so fly
                                                                   I'm trying to be a,
She can't help but show it
                                                                   A full time beliver
She's got that glow
                                                                   I'm hoping that for me you will pray
And you know it, and I know it, and they know it
                                                                   I want to be a,
                                                                   A full time believer
She's the rarest flower
An astrological find
And when she stretches on by Everyday...
She blows my mind
She don't need nobody
                                                                   Final (Dm C F Bb Dm C D D7 )
I only wish she was
