

Rosa Esber - Smoking In The Shower

tom:

E

Crying myself to sleep again

My room looks different

But I'm the same

Trying to figure it out

Why can I be enough for you

Or me or anyone near

I miss the air, I miss myself

When I used to enjoy life as it is

But I guess something is changed

So I'll be here

Smoking in the shower again

Trying to forget how I just felt

I guess I'm here to release the pain

But it doesn't ever goes away

I hope there soon will be better days

Cause I feel so exhausted

Overthinking too much

Now is my superpower

I want to disappear

At this point there is nothing in between

Me and the cliff me and the cliff

Had to be strong but there's nobody here

Trying to find the way out but I sink in my tears

While I'm smoking in the shower again

Trying to forget how I just felt

I guess I'm here to released the pain

Trying to convince myself I'm well

But I'm here over and over again

Trying to forget the mess I've made

And fix it all with broken faces

When all I hear it's voices telling me

Take me back to the start of our lives

When we saw each other

And we started to be together

Before all was crashing down

Down, down, down, down

We held each other

And we cared for each other

And then it all came crashing down, down

Take me back to my life

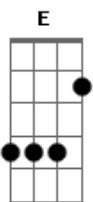

When you came (When you came)

Back to me (Back to me)

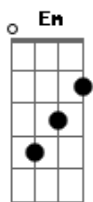

And the fire only took

What the water just flected
