In a world of places lets go somewhere we haven't gone.

We've got younger faces than our hearts are letting on.

and we won't place any stock in old days.

Lets save up for something new.

Someday I won't have to wait for you

What if I asked, What if I asked you to stay?

What if if cost you your heart and your last name?

and we won't place any stock in old days.

Lets save up for something new.

Someday I won't have to wait for you

And when we sleep at night I hope that we write novels in our heads of what to tell the other when we wake.

and when morning comes before we're done with volumes left to chose lets say "I love you."

Just "I love you".

"I love you."

and "I love you too."
