

Sadie Jean - Locksmith

```
like you do)
                                                               [Pré-Refrão]
                            tom:
               Bbm (forma dos acordes no tom de Am )
Capostraste na 1º casa
Intro: Am F C G
                                                               You were all that I wanted, you know that you still are
      Am F C G
                                                               I'm breakin' the silence to say
[Primeira Parte]
                                                               [Refrão]
 This is the last song I'll write about you, ooh
Am F I need to move on, I think you do too, ooh
                                                               If in ten years time I'm still on your mind
                                                               Would you call and say you want this?
[Pré-Refrão]
                                                               No matter where we are, you still have my heart
You were all that I wanted, you know that you still are
                                                               'Cause I locked it, and I promise
                                                               You're the locksmith
'Cause I've been alright, yeah, but you showed me better
I know that we're changin' but nothin' feels different
                                                               [Ponte]
I'm breakin' the silence to say
                                                               You're the one that I can see me growin' old with [Refrão]
                                                               Build a house, I see it now, you plant me roses
If in ten years time I'm still on your mind
                                                               And everything we dreamed about, came into focus
Would you call and say you want this?
                                                               Here's to hopin'
                                                               [Refrão]
No matter where we are, you still have my heart
'Cause I locked it, and I promise
                                                               If in ten years time I'm still on your mind
                                                               Could you call and say you want this?
You're the locksmith
                                                               No matter where we are, you still have my heart
[Segunda Parte]
                                                                        С
                                                             G 'Cause I locked it, and I promise
 We said, "Forever" and said it too soon (And said it too
                                                               You're the locksmith
  At least now I know nobody feels like you do (Nobody feels Acordes
```

