

Saraya - Back To The Bullet

```
This is where I belong
             tom:
                                                        Abm A
Intro: Abm A B Dbm
                                                      Been running from the truth too long
      Abm A B Dbm
                                                      ( Abm A B Dbm )
( Abm A B Dbm )
              Α
 Lately I find myself driving past your house
       A B
 Past the bar we used to go, whoa
       A B E
                                                      This is where I belong
 Anywhere that you might be
                                                       Abm A
               Abm A Am
Gbm A B
                                                      Been running from the truth too long
     Oh, that's where my body leads me \,
                                                      Oh-oh-oh-oh
  Ooh, it's the only place I know
                                                              A B
              Abm
                                                                        Dbm
                                                      Abm
  Gonna follow where it leads me
                                                        Here I am, back to the bullet
                 Bm
                                                           A B
                                                                          Dbm
 Even if I don't wanna go
                                                        This time I won't, this time I won't
                                                           A B
                                                                         Dbm
        А В
                                                       This time I won't run from you
 Here I am, back to the bullet
    A B
                                                      (Back to the bullet)
 Shoot me down again, I want you to
                                                              А В
                                                        Ooh, I won't run from you
    A B Dbm
 Here I am, back to the bullet
                                                           A B
                                                                        Dbm
        Α
             В
                                                        No, no, no, no, no, no
   This time I won't run from you
                                                            A B Dbm
                                                         I won't run from you
Dbm
                                                           A B Dbm
     Heard it all before and I know I'll hear it again
                                                          Whoa, whoa, whoa
Dbm
                            F
                   В
     He's no good, better stay away
                                                      (Back to the bullet)
                 В
             Α
     But every night when I picture us alone
                                                          I won't run from you
Gbm
     A B
                                                             A B
                   Abm A Am
                                                      Ahm
       Oh, the words just fade away
                                                         (Back to the bullet)
                                                             A B
                                                                         Dbm
                                                          I won't run from you
    Holding on to yesterday
                                                            A B
      Abm A
                                                      Abm
Here I am, back to the bullet
                                                          (Back to the bullet)
Gbm B
         Abm A
Shoot me down again, I want you to, oh
                                                              A B
                                                          Hey, hey, yeah
      A B Dbm
     Here I am, back to the bullet
                                                         (Back to the bullet)
       A B Dbm
     This time I won't run from you
                                                             A B Dbm
                                                          Hey, hey A B Dbm
(Ebm Gb B)
                                                      Abm
                                                          I won't run
Fbm Gb B
Run from you
                                                       Abm
                                                              A B
                                                          (Back to the bullet)
           Whoa, c'mon, baby
```

Acordes

