

SayWeCanFly? - The Last Thing We'll Ever do

Tom: C

I just want to breathe you in tonight.
 You take up every thought that's in my mind,
 So take another breath and close your eyes.
 Kiss me like it's the last thing we'll ever do.

We could slow dance beneath the moon
 And count the fireflies surrounding me and you
 As they light up your already sparkling, dazzling, hazel eyes
 And there's something in the air, some kind of angel dust I swear
 And it's making me crazy, about you, about us

I just want to breathe you in tonight
 You take up every thought that's in my mind
 So take another breath and close your eyes
 Kiss me like it's the last thing we'll ever do

I thought butterflies waiting
 Til summertime's do come around, but I was so wrong
 They are hiding and flying on every cloud of the blue sky
 That you bring along with you, every time I kiss you
 And it's making me crazy, about you, about us

I just want to breathe you in tonight
 You take up every thought that's in my mind
 So take another breath and close your eyes
 Kiss me like it's the last thing we'll ever do
 Cause I just want to breathe you in tonight
 You take up every thought that's in my mind
 So take another breath and close your eyes
 Kiss me like it's the last thing we'll ever do

I just want to breathe you in tonight
 You take up every thought that's in my mind
 So take another breath and close your eyes
 Kiss me like it's the last thing we'll ever do
