Secondhand Serenade - You and I

```
Tom: E
                                                               [Chorus]
Intro: E
                                                                F
          E - B - Gbm - A - B
                                                                              В
                                                               I know I?m not alone
[Verse]
                                                                          Gbm
                                                                                          A B
                                                               I?m not the only one who is broken
                                                                    E
                                                               And I know I?ll never let you go
I?m feeling distracted
                                                                                Dbm
                                                                                           R
And likewise attracted
                                                               I could watch the world pass by
 Dbm
                                                                     Α
                                                                                           Dbm
To all the things that you let me know
                                                               Just as long as it?s you and I
  B
                                                                      Dbm
                                                              You and I
To all the things that you can?t let go
                                                               [Bridge]
You?re waiting for friction
                                                              Dbm
The empty addiction
                                                              We watched the world go by
  Dbm
Is forcing me to intervene
                                                               (But if it?s you and I)
Let?s break out of this scene
                                                               Then we will never die
                                                                              Dbm
[Chorus]
                                                               (No we can never die)
 F
               R
                                                              We watch the world go by
I know I?m not alone
                                                              But if it?s you and I
          Gbm
                           AB
I?m not the only one who is broken
                                                                                 В
                                                              Then we will never die
    Е
                            B
And I know I?ll never let you go
                                                               [Chorus/Outro]
                Dbm
                            В
I could watch the world pass by
                                                                F
                                                                              В
     Α
                            Dbm
Just as long as it?s you and I
                                                              I know I?m not alone
                                                                                          A B
                                                                         Gbm
You and I
                                                               I?m not the only one who is broken
                                                                   E
[Verse]
                                                              And I know I?ll never let you go
                                                                               Dbm
                                                                                         B
                                                               I could watch the world pass by
F
I watch you take over
                                                                                           Dbm
                                                               Just as long as it?s you and I
I?ll give you this offer
                                                               В
                                                              You and I
Dbm
Take my hand and we will run away
                                                                F
R
                                                                              R
Leave behind our past to stay
                                                               I know I?m not alone
                                                                                          A B
                                                                          Gbm
                                                               I?m not the only one who is broken
Decaying till it?s rotten
                                                                                            B
                                                              And I know I?ll never let you go
We?ll have long forgotten
                                                                               Dbm
                                                                                           В
                                                               I could watch the world pass by
   Dbm
The memories that will haunt your heart
                                                                     Α
                                                                                           Dbm
                                                               Just as long as it?s you and I
     B
Let?s tear this town apart
                                                               You and I...
