

Sevendust - Angels Son Acoustic

Tom: E

Album: Animosity
Lyrics: Clink Lowery & Lajon Witherspoon
Transposed by: Thomas Flowers

X = mute
| = End Verse
} = Stop
K = 10
E = 11
T = 12 (sorry about having to label fret 10,11,12. It's just double digit #'s get on my nerves >.<)

Okay, I have looked at some of the other peoples tablature for this song, and honestly I could not believe how off they are, even though the authors seem so sure that they're right. Some people say that the song is played in drop-D tuning with 2 guitars, and other people say that it's not even detuned. Well, guess what THEY'RE ALL WRONG!! So without further ado, I will show you how to play the song correctly, and you will sound almost identical to the Clint Lowery on the Album.

It doesn't matter what type you use, but I prefer to use heavier strings.

Okay, Just to clear something up, to play the song you WILL have to detune your guitar. The song is played in drop-D flat(b) ex.= Db,Ab,Db,Gb,Bb,Eb. To achieve this you must first detune your whole guitar down half a step. Then drop the low E-string as you would normally do to put it in drop-D. The high e string is not played throughout the whole song so try to avoid hitting it. And one more thing. From listening to the song, I have heard that the acoustic part is played by only 1 person, though I guess it can be played by 2 but I'm not sure why anyone would want to.

Key: ~ = Let ring out s = slide

Intro:

Verse: Play 4x

Bridge: Play 2x. You'll have to listen to the song to get the right rhythm. (K=10,E=11,T=12)

Chorus: Again, you must listen to the song to get the rhythm right. (K=10, E=11, T=12)

Verse 1st half: Play 2x

Verse 2nd half: Play 2x

Chorus 2: Play 2x

Outro:

Acordes

