

Sheryl Crow - Good is Good

And let your good times pass you?
Intro: A E Gbm 2x
                                                               When the day is done
 Good is good and bad is bad
                                                                And the world is sleeping
 But you don't know which one you had
                                                                And the moon is on its way to shine
 She put your books out on the sidewalk
                                                               When your friends are gone
Now they're blowing 'round
                                                                You thought were so worth keeping and they won't help you when you're down
                                                                You feel you don't belong
 Love's on your list of things to do
                                                                And you don't know why
  To bring your good luck back to you
                                                                 And every time you hear the rolling thunder
  And if you think that everything's unfair
                                                                  You turn around before the lightening strikes
Would you care if you're the last one standing there?
                                                                 And does it ever make you stop and wonder
  And every time you hear the rolling thunder
                                                                 If all your good times pass you by
  You turn around before the lightening strikes
                                                                 And every time you hear the rolling thunder
  And does it ever make you stop and wonder
                                                                 You turn around before the lightening strikes
  If all your good times pass you by
                                                                 And does it ever make you stop and wonder
  I don't hold no mystery
                                                                 And let your good times pass you?
  But I can show you how to turn the key
                                                               When the day is done
  Cause all I know is where I started

                                                                And the world is sleeping
  So downhearted
                                                                And the moon is on its way to shine
  And that's not where you want to be
                                                               When your friends are gone
  And every time you hear the rolling thunder
                                                                You thought were so worth keeping
  You turn around before the lightening strikes
                                                                You feel you don't belong
  And you could find a rock to crawl right under Neither do I
