All across the town, all across the night
 Everybody's driving with full headlights
 Black or white turn it on, face the new religion
 Everybody's sitting 'round watching television!

I'm up and down the Westway, in an' out the lights
 What a great traffic system - it's so bright

I can't think of a better way to spend the night
 Then speeding around underneath the yellow lights

Now I'm in the subway and I'm looking for the flat
 This one leads to this block, this one leads to that
 The wind howls through the empty blocks looking for a home
 I run through the empty stone because I'm all alone
