Sleeping With Sirens - All My Heart

Tom: C Those late summers we may stay up talking all night I ask, "You think we'll ever make it?' You say, "I'm sure, if it's right." And it's funny to think how stupid I used to be pm pm pm pm pm pm pm Hope you always believe pm pm pm pm pm pm pm You still have all of my You still have all of my You still have all of my heart There's so many things that I could say [x2] But I'm sure it would come out all wrong You've got something that I can't explain Let them talk and talk and talk Let them say what they want Still I try and try and let you know We will laugh at the thought; they don't know what we got Summer we spent, one could never forget Looking for any kind of reason to escape all the mess That we thought is what made us Every year that goes by, a year older we are You'll still be beautiful then, bless your beautiful heart Ain't it funny now, we can see We're who we're meant to be We'll talk and talk and talk How crazy it seems You still have all of my We can waste our whole lives helplessly You still have all of my Just patiently waiting for a love like you and me You still have all of my heart (For a love) (Ohhhh) You still have all of my There's so many things left to say You still have all of my I could have been better and stronger for you and me You still have all of my heart You always make me feel okay [x2]
