Sody - Reason To Stay

```
                              tom:
                    C

                    C                          Am
Here we are again lying on the floor
           G                       F
I can hear my name under the bedroom door
                    C              Am
You can change my day with a single word
         G                     F
You will never know how much it hurts

C                   F
I hate it when I blame myself
     G
I hate it when I cry
                 Am                       C
I hate it when my makeup's falling down my eyes
F
I hate the way you look at me
                          G
Know I'm not what you want
           Am
And I'm not coming back
                         C
I'm already gone
[Refrão]

       F                     G        C
So are you gonna give me a reason to stay?
       F                     G        C
Or are you gonna let me throw it all away?
   Am
If I'm already broken
         G           C
There's nothing left to break
     F                     G        C
So don't try and give me a reason to stay

C
Who do I turn to?
              Am
Where do I escape?
                 G
Got an empty pack
                       F
Still a heavy weight
                C          Am
All I know is I did it for me?
         G              F
```
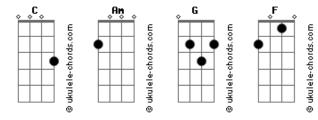

```
I'm not sorry, I'm not sorry

[Ponte]

F
I hate the way you look at me
                          G
Know I'm not what you want
                     Am
And I'm not coming back
                    C
I'm already gone

[Refrão]

             F                 G      C
So are you gonna give me a reason to stay?
         F                 G         C
Or are you gonna let me throw it all away?
       Am
If I'm already broken
         G           C
There's nothing left to break
     F                 G      C
So don't try and give me a reason to stay
       F             G     C
How could the fearless become so afraid?
 F                 G         C
The ones that are closest feel so far away
                 Am
Guess we're already broken
         G           C
There's nothing left to break
     F                 G         Am  F  G
So don't try and give me a reason to stay
F
I hate the way you look at me
                          G
Know I'm not what you want

         F                 G      C
So are you gonna give me a reason to stay?
         F                 G         C
Or are you gonna let me throw it all away?
             Am
If I'm already broken
         G           C
There's nothing left to break
     F                         G     Am F G    C
So don't try and give me a reason to stay, to stay
```

Acordes