

S.O.J.A. (Soldiers of Jah Army) - Translation Of One

Tom: G
Intro: 2x: C D Em G

Solo Intro:

Primeira Parte:

C D Em G
I'm not saying that I've got it all figured out
I'm just saying that most people
Seem to be without a doubt
So scared to death of what they just don't understand
You know they been doing that one since the dawning of man
If you need the union of marriage that the bible portrays
It's after the part permitting human enslavement
People always need other people to hate
It's the evil that the human mind creates

Ref:

C D Em G
But we can't go on pretending that we're strong
Pretending that we're better than everyone
And don't blame God for your own hatred
That you direct unto his children, that's you alone

Segunda parte:

C D Em G
One love, one love
That's what you're telling me
Except for 'them,' never 'them,'
They're not your 'family.'

That's the same old story
The same old ideology:
Forty nine to eighteen
Sixty one to thousand fourteen

Repete o refrao:

C D Em G
And then you blame it on the bible
And the pages written by who knows who
Then loosely got translated to 50 languages
Now everyone's 'tradition' is hatred, loosely translated

We can't go on pretending that we're strong
Pretending that we're better than everyone
Don't blame God for your own hatred
That you direct unto his children, that's you alone
We can't go on pretending that we're strong
Pretending that we're better than everyone
Don't blame God for your own hatred

Final:

C D Em G
That you keep right in your heart there
And you love it, and what would you do without it?
Pick up your hatred and find it in the pages
And then translate it to look just like you made it
And change the faces to look like your faces
And you can change the names
To fit into your translation of 'one.'
