

Switchfoot - Daylight To Break

Tom: A

tabbed by: Miko Savady

Drop-D tuning

(be mindful of the --7999 in 'the sun hits my eyes..' part, u might miss it!)

Intro: note emphasis is on A-string in the intro/verse sequences, just play the other gently

Verse 1

I've seen the darkest things crawling inside of me

I've seen the monsters come alive

I've seen the enemy the nightmare follows me

Searching the darkness for a light

Chorus 1

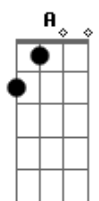

Waiting for daylight to break up this room, waiting for daylight to break

I've been alone in the dark I've been dreaming and

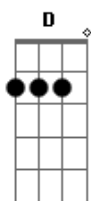

Waking up without you I've been waking up without you for too long

Verse 2

Back in the tragedy I've made a mess of me

My bitter means my bitter ends yeah

I see the irony it gets the best of me

Dying to be made new again again

Chorus 2

Waiting for daylight to break up this room, waiting for daylight to break

I've been alone in the dark I've been dreaming the Day, when dreamers are awake. The sun hits my eyes and

Everything is right I've been waking up without you I've been

Waking up without you I've been warring alarms till you are in my arms, I've been

Waking up without you I've been waking up without you for too long

Just repeat same chords of Chorus 2 for last chorus, making appropriate changes to the strumming pattern etc.
