

Tegan And Sara - Hold My Breath Until I Die

```
Tom: G
                                                              Oh, if I hold my breath until I die? I'll be alright
                                                              Oh? if I (if I) hold my breath (hold my)
           Bbm
                        Ab
                                                      Δh
                                                              Until I die (breath, I), I'll be alright
Late at night, when your words are eating me alive
              Ab
                            Gb
Does it make you sad to leave me here like that?
                                                              Oh, if I (if I) hold my breath (hold my)
               Gb
      Ab
                                  Ah
                                                              Until I die (breath, I), I'll be alright
In my dreams? the blood runs from my eyes
If I fall? will you catch me in your arms? (catch me in your
                                                              I said I'm sorry (I'm sorry)
                                                              Does it bother you? (bother you)
Rhm
                 Ab
                          Gb
When you asked me who? I should have said it's you
                                                              Why does it bother you? (bother you)
      Ab
                        Gb
Now it seems like it will never be, will never be
                                                              I said I'm sorry (I'm sorry)
                Gb
                               Dh
Oh, if I hold my breath until I die? I'll be alright
                                                              Does it bother you? (bother you)
                Gb
Oh, if I hold my breath until I die? I'll be alright
                                                              Why does it bother you? (bother you)
               Gb
Oh? if I (if I) hold my breath (hold my)
                                                                                             Dh
                                                              Oh, if I hold my breath until I die? I'll be alright
Until I die (breath, I), I'll be alright
                                                                               Gb
                                                              Oh, if I hold my breath until I die? I'll be alright
               Gb
Oh, if I (if I) hold my breath (hold my)
                                                                              Gb
Db Ab Until I die (breath, I), I'll be alright
                                                              Oh? if I (if I) hold my breath (hold my)
                                                              Until I die (breath, I), I'll be alright
         Ab
                                                                              Gb
Shame on me 'cause I can't help fallin' at your feet
                                                              Oh, if I (if I) hold my breath (hold my)
        Ab
               Gb
                                                              Db Ab Until I die (breath, I), I'll be alright
It makes me mad to see you leave like that
Bbm Ab Gb
I'm so lost, running circles in my head
                                                              Bbm Gb
                                                              I said I'm sorry
             Ab
                        Gb
If I jump, will you catch me in your arms? (catch me in your
                                                              Does it bother you?
                          Gb
                 Ab
                                                              Why does it bother you?
When you asked me who? I should have said it's you
                                                              Bbm Gb
           Ab
                        Gb
                                                              I said I'm sorry
Now it seems like it will never be, will never be
                                                              Does it bother you?
                Gb
Oh, if I hold my breath until I die? I'll be alright
                                                              Why does it bother you?
Acordes
```

