

The Cult - Soldier Blue

```
Tom: A
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    small slide before it
               This has been taken from http://
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         a soldier blue a soldier fried
I did not tab this and thank you to Pedro Sousa for tabbing he's gonna bust up everything in sight
this kik ass song out!
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         a real heavy dude in a killing mood pack your bags or you'll be through transcribed by pedro sousa
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         you'll be through yeah
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         it's guaranteed to shater all your dreams % \left( 1\right) =\left( 1\right) \left( 1 here's another great song from the also great sonic temple, in
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    pre-chorus:
my opinion it's pretty
I have doubts about the pre-chorus though. send me any corrections!
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    chorus:
                                              - slide
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    interlude: palm muted root notes

    vibratto

                                              - stacatto
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   use this clean bit when necessary in this part
     h
                                              - hammer on
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       D \setminus A
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       I see the sunset sea on fire % \left( 1\right) =\left( 1\right) +\left( 1\right) =\left( 1\right) =\left( 1\right) +\left( 1\right) =\left( 1\right) =\left( 1\right) +\left( 1\right) =\left( 1\right
     р
                                              - pull off
     h
                                              - b
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   orion
                                              - bend release pull off
     brp
                                              - when I can't make out the lyrics
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         dreams of peace wait on the horizon for yee Intro: x4 with some whammy bar effects (try the harmonic at
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   D\A
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         clouds filled with blood rain on the water 7th fret second string)
          1st/3rd
                                                                                                                                2nd
                                                                                                                                                                         4th
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         ????? night time fingers clench the last ????
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   D\B
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    D\A
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 B A
riff 1
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             our sister rides a horse of apocalypse now is the closing
chords: B A D E
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   during this last phrase
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   play the same thing but strike the chords between the root notes (heavy metal style)
verse 1:
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   play this over it
chords: B BA D E
play A right after B (listen to the song)
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    solo:
     soldier blue bloodstained red
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   part 1 (play the intro)
     hey people it's gonna bust your head
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        love has no season
    a real bad dream yeah you know it's true kiss his boots or you'll be through come on shake it stealer out of the night comes a soldier ridin'
     line you up in his gun sight
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   part 2:
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    chords: B D E B D B
pre-chorus:
                                                                                                 slide to A only the last time
chords: B A D E
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         end it here the second time
this is played over the pre chorus
     his mind's exploded ego's overloaded
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    chorus:
     hey children started runnin'
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   the end uses the same chords as riff 1 but the phrasing is chorus: same as riff1 x2
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   different
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   once again you must listen to the song, there's also a solo soldier blue love is out of season
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   over it.
     soldier blue yeah ain't fighting for no reason no no
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        BADF
verse 2: same as the first but the D rings out more and has suggestions, corrections, comments welcome at Acordes
```

В

