

The Distillers - Beat Your Heart Out

```
I set it light, it burns so bright
                                                          G Gb D
                          tom:
                                                           Yeah, you're draining me
Intro: Bb C Bb
                                                          [Refrão]
[Refrão]
                                                                     G Gb E D
              G Gb E D
                                                          You make my heart beat faster
Baby, you make my heart beat faster
                                                                      G Gb E D
       G Gb E D
                                                          Baby, you make my heart beat faster
                                                          EG E G
Baby, you make my heart beat faster
                                                          I know, yeah I know, that it's true
T know
Bb C
                                                          [Ponte 1]
[Primeira Parte]
                                                          Let alone to rest alone, oh, oh, oh
                                                                              B Gb
Let alone to rust alone
                                                          Let alone to rest alone, oh, oh, oh
                                                                               B Gb
          Gb
Yeah, you're making me
                                                          Let alone to rest alone, oh, oh, oh
                                                          D B Gb
I had to run, the damage is done
                                                          Oh, oh, oh, oh
        G
Give it up, yeah, give it up, yeah
                                                          Oh, ooh
There's nothing left, so take the rest
                                                          [Refrão]
           Gb
Yeah, you're draining me
                                                                         G Gb E D
                                                          Baby, you make my heart beat faster
I set it light, it burns so bright
                                                                      G Gb E D
                                                          Baby, you make my heart beat faster
Gb G Bb C
Stab it out, yeah, stab it out, yeah
                                                                      G Gb E D
                                                          Baby, you make my heart beat faster
                                                          [Ponte 2]
              G
                  Gb E D
Baby, you make my heart beat faster
        G Gb E D
                                                           There's nothing left, so take the rest
Baby, you make my heart beat faster
                                                           There's nothing left, so take the rest
E G E G E G
I know, yeah I know, yeah, I know
                                                           There's nothing left, so take the rest
[Segunda Parte]
                                                           There's nothing left, so take the rest
I had to run, the damage is done
                                                          [Refrão]
Give it up, yeah, give it up, yeah
                                                                         G
                                                                             Gb E D
                                                          Baby, you make my heart beat faster
I had to go, it got control
                                                          Bb C G Gb E D
                                                          Baby, you make my heart beat faster
           Gb
Yeah, you're breaking me
                                                                       G Gb E D
                                                          Baby, you make my heart beat faster
There's nothing left, so take the rest
                                                          Let alone
          G
Stab it out, yeah, stab it out, yeah
```

Acordes

