I'm going down the river of sadness in the dark, under the wires

I hear them call my name

Oh, Mother of Earth, the blind they call but yet stay behind the wall their sadness grows like weeds

G Em G Em
upon my thighs and knees

I gave you the key to the highway and the key to my motel door and I'm tired of leaving and leaving

G Em G Em
I can't come back no more

Em
Oh, my dark-eyed friend

Oh, Mother of Earth, the wind is hot

I tried my best, but I could not in this open country
