

The Head And The Heart - Virginia (Wind In The Night)

Wasn't that you, my darling?
                            tom:
                                                                [Refrão]
            [Primeira Parte]
                                                                   Virginia don't sound like she used to
   Virginia don't sound like she used to
                                                                   Virginia don't feel like she used to
   Walking home late
                                                                  But I can feel a heart beating for me, baby
   Smoke in my lungs and whiskey burning in my veins
                                                                   I know her heart's beating for me, baby
   December won't be so forgiving
                                                                   Virginia don't sound like she used to
   I'm haunted by a ghost
                                                                   Virginia don't feel like she used to
   Of you and my past colliding
                                                                   But I can feel a heart beating for me, baby
   I can never go home
                                                                   I know her heart's beating for me, yeah
[Pré-Refrão]

Wind in the night
                                                                (I can feel a heart beating for me, baby)
Wind in the night
                                                                   (I know her heart's beating for me, yeah)
  Thought that I heard you laughing
                                                                   Virginia don't sound like she used to
            G
  Wasn't that you, my darling?
                                                                  Virginia don't feel like she used to
[Refrão]
                                                                   But I can feel a heart beating for me, baby
                                                                   I know her heart's beating for me, yeah
Virginia don't sound like she used to
                                                                [Refrão]
   Virginia don't feel like she used to
   But I can feel a heart beating for me, baby
                                                                 (Wind in the night)
                                                                   Virginia don't sound like she used to
   I know her heart's beating for me, baby
                                                                (The wind in the night)
   Virginia don't sound like she used to
                                                                     Virginia don't feel like she used to
  Virginia don't feel like she used to
                                                                  But I can feel a heart beating for me, baby
   But I can feel a heart beating for me, baby
                                                                   I know her heart's beating for me, baby
                                                                 (Wind in the night)
   I know her heart's beating for me, yeah
                                                                   Virginia don't sound like she used to [Segunda Parte]
                                                                (The wind in the night)
                                                                     Virginia don't feel like she used to
   I've travelled all over in my life
                                                                  But I can feel a heart beating for me, baby
   But nothing's slowed me down
                                                                   I know her heart's beating for me, yeah
   This place that I used to love, well
                                                                [Final]
   It's just another town
[Pré-Refrão]
                                                                Wind in the night
                                                                The wind in the night
Wind in the night
                                                                Wind in the night
Wind in the night
                                                                The wind in the night
  Thought that I heard you laughing
