

The Kinks - Do You Remember Walter?

Tom: Bb

C
 Walter, remember when the world was young
 Eb Bb
 And all the girls knew Walter's name?
 F Cm F Bb
 Walter, isn't it a shame the way our little world has changed?
 Cm7 D
 G
 Do you remember, Walter, playing cricket in the thunder and the rain?
 Cm7 D
 G
 Do you remember, Walter, smoking cigarettes behind your garden gate?
 Ab Eb
 Yes, Walter was my mate,
 G F C
 But Walter, my old friend, where are you now?
 Eb Bb
 Walter's name
 F Cm F Bb
 Walter, isn't it a shame the way our little world has changed?
 Cm7 D

G
 Do you remember, Walter, how we said we'd fight the world so we'd be free.
 Cm7 D
 G
 We'd save up all our money and we'd buy a boat and sail away to sea.
 Ab Eb
 But it was not to be.
 G F C
 I knew you then but do I know you now?
 C Eb Bb
 Walter, you are just an echo of the world we knew so long ago
 F Cm7 F Bb
 If you saw me now you wouldn't even know my name.
 Cm7
 I bet you're fat and married and
 D G
 you're always home in bed by half-past eight.
 Cm7
 And if I talked about the old times
 you'd get bored and you'll have nothing left to say.
 Ab Eb G F C
 Yes people often change, but memories of people can remain.
