

The Oak - Way Out

Tom: A

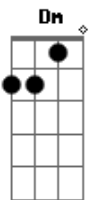

I can feel trough your eyes
The dark desperate storm
And I know that you are lost
For the long that you gone
And I know all the sunken things
Deep inside of your heart
I know
Let it be gone
But there's a noise in your head that is echoing and echoing and Echoing and echoing
Let the sun stroke your skin and breath in and breath in and breath in and breath in and breath in
Be in peace
Until feel all your nerve endings
Making synapses with every Part of your body
(D F G)
The sea lies in between
Your lungs full of golden leafs
As you fight against it all
Underneath the stars
You gasp for a whole new world

Underneath your skin
Something screams to be released
There's a noise in your head that is echoing and echoing and Echoing and echoing
Hear the choir of the waves that are echoing and echoing and Echoing and echoing
Be in peace
Until feel all your nerve endings
Making synapses with every
Part of your body
(D C D)
What is deep in your soul?
Let it rise to the cosmos
Everything that is hiding
Sparks are scaping
A flower ready to bloom
Let it be out of your core, of our core
Reach the moon being full of you
In this new world full of you Hear this echoing again, echoing again, echoing again, and again and again
Echoing
Ah
(F G C D)

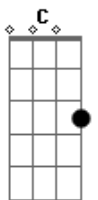

Acordes

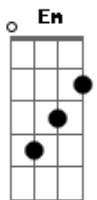

© ukulele-chords.com

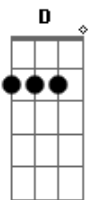

© ukulele-chords.com

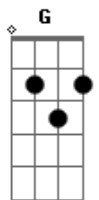

© ukulele-chords.com

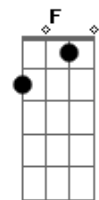

© ukulele-chords.com

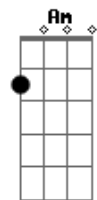

© ukulele-chords.com

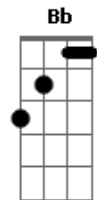

© ukulele-chords.com

© ukulele-chords.com

© ukulele-chords.com

© ukulele-chords.com