

The Revivalists - SoulFight

I'd have to find something else to do
  Verse 1:
                                                                                  D
Is There any body home in here?
                                                                      So Im gonna stand here by yo fiya
its getting cold and I just don't care cause its a co--old one tonight
                                                                      im taking care of Soulfight
So Im gonna find something else to do just Take a really good look at me an yo the re-- -ason why all of you people cant get along, any more cause falling down ain't so hard to do,

                                                                      Im taking care of Soulfight,
your only crutch be the bottle of brew.
                                                                      and your the re--ason why
                                                                      Instrumental: G
So Im gonna find something else to do.
Cause if I ever was to say to you, (jam how ever long you want) all them things that you wanted me to, love \ensuremath{\mathsf{Em}}
I'd have to find something else to do.
                                                                      So Mother Mary, wont ya come sing a song for me and make I last all damn night
So Im gonna stand here by yo fiya
                                                                      Cause you know I cant hang on to see cause its a co---ld one to-night \ensuremath{\mathsf{G}} why his new spoose hang so tight
