Intro: E

E Dbm Gbm
Born to multiply, born to gaze into night skies,
A Gbm E
All you want's one more Saturday.
Dbm
But look here, until then
Gbm
They're gonna buy your nice time
A Gbm
So keep your wick in the air and your feet in the fetters
B
To the day.
E
You come in doing cartwheels
B
We all go out by ourselves
E
And your shape on the dance floor
B
Will have me thinking such filth and gauge my eyes.
Dbm A
You'd be damned to be one of us girl
Dbm A
Faced with a dodo's conundrum
E Gbm A
Ah, I felt like I could just fly
Abm B
But nothing'll happen every time I try.
Woo ooo, Woo ooo
E Dbm Gbm
A dual tone under wall, selfish fool and hoped you'd save us all
A Gbm E
Never dreamt of such sterile hands,
Dbm
You keep them folded in your lap,
Gbm
And raise them up to beg for scraps,
A Gbm
You know, he's holding you down, With the tips of his fingers
just the same,
E
You'll be pulled from the ocean,
B

But just a minute too late,
E
Or changed by a potion,
B
We'll find a handsome young mate, For you to love.
Dbm A
You'll be damned to pining through the windowpanes,
Dbm A
You know you'll change your life for any ordinary Joe,
E Gbm A
And though your night will go on,
Abm B
Your nightmares only need a year or two to unfold.
E B
Been in love since you were twenty-one,
E B
You haven't laughed since January,
E B
You try and make this up this is so much fun,
E B
But we know it to be quite contrary.
E B
lalalala, la la la la
Dbm A
Dare to be one of us, girl,
Dbm A
Facing the Andrum's conundrum,
E Gbm A
Ah, I feel like I should just cry,
Abm B
But nothing happens every time I take one on the chin,
Abm B
You're humoring your cote, you don't know how long I've been,
Abm B
Watching the lantern dim,
Abm B
Starved of oxygen,
A Gbm E
So give me your hand, and let's jump out the window.
