

The Shins - So Says I

Tom: C

Am D
An address to the golden door
Am D
I was strumming on a stone again
Am D E
pulling teeth from the pimps of gore when hatched

a tragic opera in my mind...

Am D
and it told of a new design
Am D in which every soul is duty bound Am D E
to uphold all the statues of boredom therein lies the fatal flaw of the red age

Because it was nothing like we'd ever dreamt our lust for life had gone away with the rent we hated and because it made no money nobody saved no one's life this time

Am D
So we burned all our uniforms
Am D
and let nature take its course again
Am D E
and the big ones just eat all the little ones that send us back to the drawing board.

Am D (3 Vezes)

Am
In our darkest hours we have all asked for some angel to come sprinkle his dust all around but all our crying voices they can't turn it around you've had some crazy conversations of your own.
Am D Am
We've got rules and maps and guns in our backs but we still can't just behave ourselves even if to save our own lives so, says I,

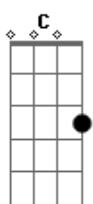

WE ARE A BRUTAL KIND. (3 vezes)

E C
Cuz this is nothing like we'd ever dreamt
Tell Sir Thomas More we've got another failed attempt Cuz if it makes them money they might just give you life this time.

Am D (3 Vezes)

E

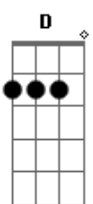

Acordes

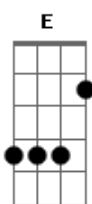

© ukulele-chords.com

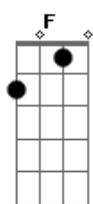

© ukulele-chords.com

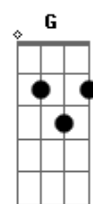

© ukulele-chords.com

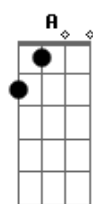

© ukulele-chords.com

© ukulele-chords.com

© ukulele-chords.com

© ukulele-chords.com