

The Starhill - Colors

tom:

A

There is something I should know
 All this colors that you show
 Is this way we fall apart?
 There's no time for a new start

Red, we lie awake in bed
 Worrying about what's ahead
 Blue, please just give me a clue

Don't surprise me with something new

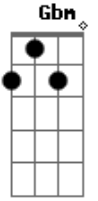

Green, tell me where you have been
 Don't let your mind away from me
 White, you can't cover my eyes
 'Cause now I can see how you fly

There's s no way for us again
 Time has come to face the end
 So let's stop to blame ourselves
 Brake the shell with someone else
