The White Buffalo - Ballad Of A Dead Man

```
G
                                                                Nothin more tom:
                G
Intro: Em D C G D C G
                                                               [Terceira Parte]
[Primeira Parte]
                                                                   G
                                                               The sun light up
   G
                                                                   G
The moon lights up
                                                               Brings sparkles in the morning light
                     С
G
                                                               Rubs her belly, bows her head to cry
Over the battlefield now
                                                                 G
    С
                                                                                             D
With a blistering heat somehow
                                                               She lost him before they were wed
                                   D
                                                                       D
                                                                                                   C
G
Lifeless limp and broken hearts are dead
                                                               But he's there in her heart and her head
 D
                                    C
                                                               C
                                                                               G
They should have just stayed home instead
                                                                He'll stay alive
                   G
And stayed alive
                                                               [Refrão]
[Segunda Parte]
                                                                        Fm
                                                                                D
                                                               Well the moon and stars can't cast shadows on what is wrong
    G
                                                               G
                                                                                D
                                                                Our boys are dead
A letter arrives
G
                                                               D
                                                                               С
It glistens a mother's eyes
                                                               They've been mislead
                                                                     G
   C
                                                               C
                                                                Nothin more
She wonders where, when and why
                                 D
                                                                     Em
                                                                                D
                                                                                                  С
   G
She could have tucked him in his bed
                                                               Well the moon and stars can't cast shadows on what is wrong
   D
                                                               G
                                                                     D
                                 C
With a kiss on his cheek and his head
                                                                Our boys are dead
                                                               D
                     G
                                                                               C
Where he'd still lie
                                                               They've been mislead
                                                                       G [Refrão]
                                                                Nothin more
                                                               [Final]
        Fm
                 D
                                  C
                                                                   G
Well the moon and stars can't cast shadows on what is wrong
                                                               The moon lights up
G
                 D
Our boys are dead
                                                                                    C
                                                               G
                                                               Over the battlefield now
D
               C
They've been mislead
Acordes
     G
                  En
                                D
                0
           ukulele-chords.com
                                     ukulele-chords.com
                        ukulele-chords.com
                                                    ukulele-chords.com
```