

The Wonder Years - Washington Square Park

```
tom:
                Gb (forma dos acordes no tom de G)
                                                                Because it?s finally spring
                            Afinação: Eb Ab Db Gb Bb Eb
Intro: D A G D A G
                                                               We rode our bikes over to 6th Street
[Primeira Parte]
                                                                To Washington Square Park to see if the tides would turn for
I?m looking for the upsides
                                                                [Refrão]
To these panic-attack nights
                                                                I?m nailing shards of hope together
Where I?m staying in eating take-out food by TV light
                                                                To put something over my head
I?m trying to play the b-side to this awkward life of mine
                                                                Because you know here it?s always raining
You could flip me over I?d sing a few lines about how
                                                                And it happened again. It happened again
[Pré-Refrão]
                                                                She said, ?I let this slide when we were younger
I?m so used to shooting myself in the kneecaps
                                                                You know you don?t have to write like this
                                                                The whole world?s full of losers
Standing in the way of progress or letting down my friends
[Refrão]
                                                                If you get a chance to win, take it?
                                                                (Bm D G G)
I?m nailing shards of hope together
To put something over my head
                                                                I left a lot of blood in California
Because you know here it?s always raining
                                                                On our first trip out west
                                                                Bm D
And it happened again. It happened again
                                                                I was younger and restless back then
She said, ?I let this slide when we were younger
                                                                And I thought, if no one?s in my corner
You know you don?t have to write like this
                                                                Since everyone left
The whole world?s full of losers
                                                                I?d better make it worth it
If you get a chance to win, take it?
                                                                I left a lot of blood in California on our first trip out west
( D A G D A G )
( D A G D A G )
                                                                I was younger and restless back then and I thought
                                                                If no one?s in my corner since everyone left
[Segunda Parte]
                                                                I?d better make it worth it
I stood on the roof with Matt and Molly
                                                                I left a lot of blood in California on our first trip out west
                                                                I was younger and restless back then
```

Watched the gray slide off the city

Acordes

