

Tracy Chapman - Across The Lines

Tom: G

Em                    D    Am                    C
 Across the lines, who would dare to go ?
 Em                    D                    Am
 Under the bridge, over the tracks,
    C
 that separates whites from blacks.
 Em                    D                    G
 Choose the sides, or run for your life,
 Am                    C    D
 tonight the riots begin.
 Em                    D
 On back streets of America,
 Am                    C                    G
 they kill the dream of America.

   Em                    D
 Little black girl gets assaulted, ain't no reason why,
    Am                    C
 newspaper prints the story, and racist tempers fly.
    Em                    D
 Next day it starts a riot, knives and guns are drawn,
    Am                    C
 two black boys get killed, one white boy goes blind.
