

Travis - Blue Flashing Light

Tom: G

<sup>Em</sup>
 Saturday evening at quarter to five
<sup>Am</sup>
 I would see him arrive at the door
<sup>D</sup>
 Pushed you aside as he staggered inside
<sup>Em</sup>
 spilling alcohol over the floor
<sup>Em</sup>
 A storm is a brew it is sure to fall soon
<sup>Am</sup>
 as I look at you from ashore
<sup>G</sup>
 So you'd better hold on
 'cos it's saturday night
<sup>Em</sup>
 and your friends are all out
 and you feel like shit
<sup>G</sup>
 'cos they never called you
 no they never called you
<sup>Em</sup>
 no they never called, never called
 Never bloody ever
<sup>Em</sup>
 Call me a name and i'll hit you again
<sup>Am</sup>
 you're a slut, you're a bitch, you're a hore
<sup>D</sup>
 talk to your dad in that tone of voice

<sup>Em</sup>
 there's a belt hanging over the door
<sup>Em</sup>
 so you run to your room, and you hide in your room
<sup>Am</sup>
 thinking how you could settle the score
 chorus 1
<sup>Em</sup>
 The blue flashing light last saturday night
<sup>Am</sup>
 brought the neighbours all out on the street
<sup>D</sup>
 they watched as the fireman carried you out
<sup>Em</sup>
 and they stared at each others feet
<sup>Em</sup>
 everyone sees yet nobody says
<sup>Am</sup>
 are you all just afraid of the heat
<sup>G</sup>
 but it's saturday night

 and i'm lying alone
<sup>Em</sup>
 and the bed that i made disconnected the phone
<sup>G</sup>
 still they never call you

 no they never call you
<sup>Em</sup>
 no they never call, never call Never bloody ever call
