What's all that for
                                                           But I don't understand
If you always loved me
                                                           Why don't you tell me
And never will get forget me
                                                                  Ab
                                                          What happened to you
 D
Please be fair with yourself
                                                                  Dbm
                                                           Tell me why
If you aren't sure
                                                                  Gbm
                                                           Tell me why you stopped loving me

                                                           Dbm
You wouldn't manage to live without me
                                                           That I was your heaven Your everything
Close your eyes
                                                           If I have lost you
 Bm
                                                            Bm
And feel in your heart
                                                           I'm not to blame me
