

Trevor Hall - The Lime Tree

Tom: C

Footnote at the bottom for whoever cares to read it

Intro: /Verse

C G Am

Verse 1

I spark a match and watch the candle burn
The wick runs out and then love takes its turn
On fallin angels and broken sounds
We will last past the final round

Chorus

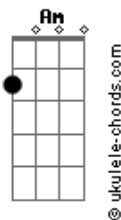

C G Am

C G
It took a while for you to find me
Am
I was hiding in the lime tree
C G
Above the city in the rain cloud
Am
I poked a hole and watched it drain out

Verse 2

Parallel to the city streets

Acordes

Are broken crowns beneath our feet
As we walk across the diamonds
We know that love is always shining

Verse 3

So save me love save me all the time

I'll wash you down with a simple sip of wine
Toast my glass to all my loved ones

To let them know that the stars they still shine

Chorus x6

Intro: /Verse

I spark a match and watch the candle burn
The wick runs out and then love takes its turn
On fallin angels and broken sounds
We will last past the final round

Since there is a Capo it changes the pitch of each chord so the C,G,and Am realtive to Cap are really E,B,and A. Just play it like standrad chords and it sounds perfect. This exactly how Trevor plays it, I just did not tab all of the riffs that he throws in. I a couple of them so you could build off of it, you will hear them when you are to the song. Godspeed to all who play this song, pretty easy. Check out some more Hall music, he is great!
