So the hearse ran out of gas, a passenger person grabbed a map
Em
And the driver inside it contrived a new route to save the past
G D
And checked his watch and grabbed a cab, a beautifully plain taxi cab
Em
A cab, had it cleared out back and two men started to unpack
G D
Driving once again, but now this time there were three men
Em
And then I heard one of them say, "I know the night will turn to gray
G D
I know the stars will start to fade when all the darkness
fades away
Em
We had to steal him from his fate so he could see another day."
G D
Em
And then I cracked open my box, someone must have picked the lock

A little light revealed the spot where my fingernails had fought
D Em
Then I pushed it open more, pushing up against the door
G
Then I sat up off the floor and found the breath I was searching for D Em
Then there were three men up front, all I saw were backs of heads
G
And then I asked, "Am I alive and well, or am I dreaming dead?"

Em D
Then one turned around to say, "We're driving toward the morning, son
G
Where all your blood is washed away and all you did will be undone."

( G D Em )
( G D Em )

G D Em
I said, don't be afraid
G D Em
I said, don't be afraid
